FEARRINGTON VILLAGE EXPANDS ARCHITECTURAL TEAM

Pittsboro, NC, May 19, 2009 – Farrington Village announces that Raleigh-based architect Brian Cather has joined its on-site design team. R.B. Fitch, president of Fitch Creations, Inc. – the developer and builder of Farrington Village – said: “It is always a winner when you can combine youth and experience with a great sense of humor. Brian fits that bill nicely.”

Brian graduated from Clemson University’s School of Architecture in 1997. After a three year apprenticeship, he narrowed his focus to his passion: residential architecture. For the past eight years Brian has been a project manager and head of the design department for a large Raleigh architectural firm, working directly with homeowners and builders to create custom home plans ranging in size from 800 to 18,000 square feet.

Brian joins longtime Farrington architect Jon Condoret, AIA. Jon trained at L’Ecole Speciale d’Architecture in Paris, France and has been an integral part of Farrington’s development for over 25 years, designing both the homes and the buildings in the Village Center.

In addition to collaborating with clients on the design of their Farrington custom homes, Jon and Brian are currently creating plans for new neighborhoods such as The Knolls, scheduled to open later this year. The 28-unit Knolls neighborhood will consist of Energy Star-certified, compact, one-story homes offering front courtyards or porches and clustered together on a protected, wooded knoll.

About Fitch Creations, Inc.

In 1974, Chapel Hill native R.B. Fitch and his late wife, Jenny, purchased the farm that had been in the Farrington family for generations and began creating a country village. The original farm house, barns and other farm structures have been re-adapted and now house shops and the award-winning Farrington House Country Inn and Restaurant. Over 1,200 individuals live in the community, which now totals over 1,500 acres.

Virtually the entire building process – including sales, design, development and construction – is performed by Fitch Creations, which is based at Farrington. More information about the company and Farrington can be found at www.farrington.com.
